

Regulatory Alert – South Africa

ICASA holding discussions regarding National Frequency Allocation Plan in bid to promote more efficient use of radio spectrum

According to its official website, the South African Regulator, Independent Communications Authority of South Africa (ICASA) is holding discussions regarding updates to its National Frequency Allocation Plan (NFAP). The aim of the discussion is to improve the general efficiency of the radio spectrum in South Africa and will take place from 9th -10th February 2017 at ICASA's main building.

ICASA has invited the media to contribute their opinions at the hearing. The article detailing the discussion ongoing at ICASA can be accessed via the following link:

<https://www.icasa.org.za/AboutUs/ICASANews/tabid/630/post/icasa-is-updating-the-national-radio-frequency-plan-to-ensure-efficient-use-of-spectrum/Default.aspx>

PCS will continue to keep all customers informed should there be any further developments regarding this topic.

For additional information regarding this alert, please contact:

Sarah Thalmessinger

Product Compliance Specialists

Email: sarah@productcompliancespecialists.com

Date of Issue: 9th February 2017